Abstract:

For a camera system comprising a control device of at least one passive camera accessory component it is suggested to mount a contactless memory medium (15) on the passive accessory component (2, 3) and to associate an electronic acquisition device (16) to the control device (20) for communication with the contactless memory medium (15).